

New-York, April 30, 1833.

My dear friend:

Since I left Trenton, I have been spending my time principally in New-Haven, and am happy to inform you that Mr. N. Jocelyn has completed what is deemed a good likeness of the madman Garrison.

He who bears this hasty note to you is one of whom you have heard much, and to whom we are all deeply indebted - Arnold Buffum, the able advocate of the colored race. May he find his visit an agreeable one - indeed, it cannot be otherwise.

I sail in the packet ship Hibernia in the morning, for Liverpool.

Mrs. Purvis, and the dear little one, I trust are in good health.

Grateful for the many kindnesses you have shown to me, I remain,

Mr. Robert Purvis,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Care of Arnold Buffum, Esq.
